A Cardboard Box, The Simple Things

Have you noticed that many children love to play with cardboard boxes? Even to the point that they will select the cardboard box over other toys that may be present. That simple cardboard box often brings hours of playtime enjoyment to a child. We noticed this at our grandson's birthday party recently. Even with the more popular, more expensive gifts received, the first one he wanted to play with after opening all the presents was the one that uses cardboard sheets to build with.

Similarly, others have stated that their fondest memories of vacations have been the simple things that have occurred during their trips. Funny or heartwarming interactions between one another, beautiful sunsets, just time together often top the list of favorite vacation memories.

Isn't it amazing how the simple can be so profound? Take those thoughts and consider them in view of God's designation for our worship of Him. We are directed to sing, pray, hear God's Word, take of the Lord's Supper and give to the work of the church. All of these acts are very simple in and of their own. The Christian family can easily come together and be a part of each activity and be involved in worship with one another. Man has too often gotten involved in trying to "improve" on God's pattern of worship that He has prescribed, only to complicate and confuse. God's pattern for worship involves only the simple. They are not forced or orchestrated but come from the heart like those times with the cardboard or those vacation memories, the simple coming from the heart.

As we are privileged to come together to worship our God may we appreciate His wisdom in requiring the simple things for us to employ in worshipping Him. As we come together to worship, may we ask ourselves the question, isn't it amazing how the simple can be so profound?
